

Mumbai is home to the corporate headquarters of a number of top Indian and international companies.

Guided sightseeing of Mumbai • Start your tour at the famed Gateway to India, the 85-foot tall monument that was built to commemorate the visit of King George V and Queen Mary to Bombay in 1911. As the last British troops left India in 1948, they passed through the gate to mark the event. Next, explore the beautiful and intriguing Hanging Gardens, also known as Ferozeshah Mehta Gardens. Sitting atop Malabar Hill, these terraced gardens provide excellent views of the sun as it sets over the Arabian Sea, and features hedges carved into the shapes of animals. Witness the timeless tradition at Dhobi Ghat, considered the world's largest outdoor laundry service, go for a drive along Marine Drive, which borders the Arabian Sea, and visit the Gandhi Memorial Museum, the former home of India Gandhi that displays her personal effects and addresses her assassination in 1984.

Humayun's Tomb in Delhi was built in 1570 and was the first "garden tomb" on the Indian continent.

Delhi, Jaipur, Agra - three influential business centers with ancient cultural roots. Get an insider's look into business in India with in-depth visits to companies that include a call center, silk factory and a car manufacturing plant. Participate in business-focused lectures to understand India's role in world commerce, and complement this incredible experience with cultural excursions to awe-inspiring sites like the Taj Mahal and Agra Fort.

Day 1 Flight

Overnight flight • Your adventure begins as you fly through the night to India.

Day 2 Delhi

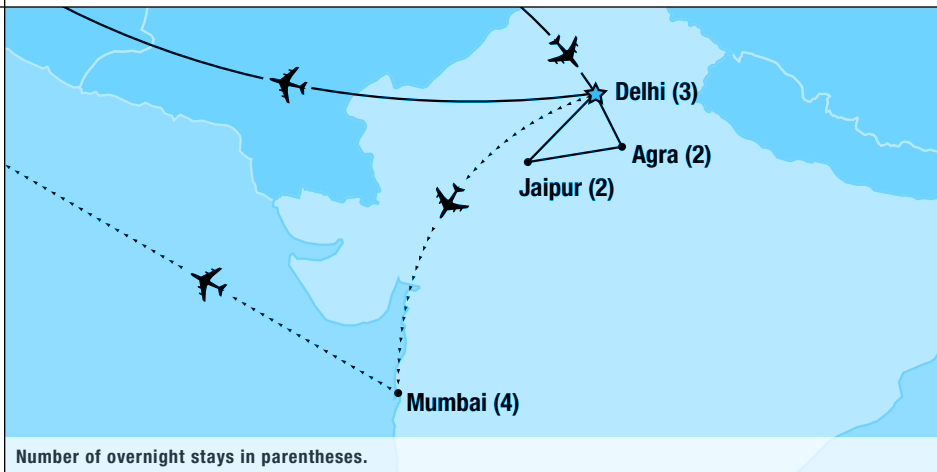

Arrival in Delhi • Late this evening, arrive in Delhi, an intriguing blend of history and modernity. Home to more than 1,000 monuments, Delhi also boasts an ever-growing commercial and industrial core, which began in the mid-1980s as foreign companies spilled in and set up shop. New Delhi's art galleries and hotel discos are just as attractive as Old Delhi's haphazard streets and primitive bazaars. Meet your bilingual tour director, who will remain with you throughout your stay, and then transfer to your hotel.

Day 3 Delhi

Guided sightseeing of Old Delhi • Your guided sightseeing begins at Old Delhi's 16th-century Jama Masjid Mosque. The mosque is one of India's largest: allegedly, it took 5,000 masons about six years to complete. Today, it continues to function as a congregational Friday mosque. You'll also visit Old Delhi's largest monument: Lal Quila, or the Red Fort, so named for its red sandstone walls. The Red Fort is also known as a good source for silver shopping. At Raj Ghat—the most famous of the ghats, where leaders and freedom fighters are cremated—see the site of Mahatma Gandhi's cremation after his 1948 assassination.

Guided sightseeing of New Delhi • This afternoon, a local guide shows you New Delhi, the seat of India's government. Its tree-lined streets and orderly colonial buildings are a sharp contrast to bustling Old Delhi. Stroll the Raj Path, or Royal Mall, a vast expanse of greenery, perfect for a picnic or a catnap. Connaught Place is New Delhi's thriving business sector, brimming with fancy hotels and flavorful restaurants. Explore Humayun's Tomb, said to be the predecessor to the Taj Mahal. This stunning white-marbledomed, red sandstone burial structure contains a mausoleum with the remains of Mughal Emperor Humayun. Finish at Dili Hat, a lively outdoor market filled with kiosks selling clothing, crafts and delicious traditional food. Don't forget: bargaining is the name of the game!

Business visit • Get an insider's look into business in Delhi, a major cultural, political, and commercial center of India, when you visit a local company.

Day 4 Delhi

Business visit * • See the workings of a company in Delhi to learn about the challenges and rewards of running a business.

Attend a business lecture * • Attend a lecture at a local university that focuses on the importance of business.

Day 5 Jaipur

Transfer to Jaipur • This afternoon, travel to Jaipur and take an evening stroll through its many bazaars. Jaipur is known as the "Gem City" of India, and there is no better place to shop for jewelry than at the Jaipur bazaars. Kundan jewelry, usually consisting of gold studded with precious gems, is the specialty of Jaipur. Kudansaz, the name given to the artisans who create this type of jewelry, will surely impress you with their wares. Be sure to pick up a piece to take home as a souvenir and don't forget to bargain.

Business visit * • Get an insider's look into business in Jaipur when you visit a local company.

Free time • Enjoy free time this afternoon in Jaipur. You may choose to shop at the popular Jaipur bazaars, visit the City Palace Museum, or stroll through this "Pink City" and admire the distinctively-colored buildings.

Day 6 Jaipur

Visit to the Palace of Amber • This morning, experience atypical transportation as you ride the back of a painted elephant to the Palace of Amber. Here, you can explore parts of this walled city palace that has been called the finest example of Rajput architecture.

Visit to the Palace of the Winds • You will also see the Palace of the Winds, which has an interesting story behind it. This awesome structure looks like a crown, and its many nooks and crannies were built to provide places for women of the court to observe what was going on in the busy streets below. Don't miss the stellar views of the city from its different vantage points.

Guided sightseeing of Jaipur • This afternoon, a local guide shows you the highlights of Jaipur. Explore the magnificently extravagant City Palace, the principal residence of the maharajas. In the Diwan-I-Khas, or the hall of private audiences, you will see the two largest silver vessels in the world—each urn holds nearly 9,000 gallons of water! In addition to the textile museum, Mubarak Mahal, there are a number of other museums in the complex.

Business visit * • This afternoon, go inside a local business to gain an in-depth look into the role of commerce in India.

Day 7 Fatehpur Sikri • Agra

Transfer via Fatehpur Sikri • On your way to Agra, visit Fatehpur Sikri ("city of victory"), a city built by Emperor Akbar in the late 1500s to be his capital. A shortage in water forced Akbar to Agra some 15 or 20 years later. Explore the red sandstone buildings, which include the Palace of Jodha Bai (the royal palace named for Akbar's wife) and the Jami Masjid mosque, the country's largest.

Arrival in Agra • Continue on to Agra, home of the Taj Mahal. Together with Delhi and Jaipur, Agra makes up the Golden Triangle, India's three most visited destinations.

Evening puppet show • Enjoy an evening puppet show in Agra. Considered one of the most popular forms of entertainment in India, puppet shows are a combination of traditional music and story, and provide a fascinating look into culture in India.

Day 8 Agra

Visit to Agra Fort • Today you will visit the nearby Agra Fort, a half-moon-shaped citadel that once served as the seat of the Moghul empire. The red-sandstone structure held Shah Jahan the final years of his life. The Shah was interned here after his son took over—the Shah could no longer adequately hold power due to his grief over the loss of his wife. Sadly, he spent these years looking out to his majestic Taj Mahal.

Visit the Taj Mahal • On your guided sightseeing of Agra, behold one of the world's most fascinating structures. Built in an Islamic theme to represent paradise, the Taj Mahal was created to hold the body of Shah Jahan's wife, who died during childbirth (it was their 14th). In addition to marble, you will see precious stones brought in from around the world, including jade, crystal, mother-of-pearl, lapis and turquoise, adorning the walls. Construction began in 1632, the year after Mumtaz Mahal died, and nearly 20,000 laborers completed the Taj Mahal in 1653.

Company visit • This afternoon, go inside a local business to gain an in-depth look into the role of commerce in India.

Return transfer to Delhi and departure • Head back to Delhi for an early morning departure.

Day 9 Delhi • Agra

Return transfer to Delhi and departure • Head back to Delhi for an early morning departure.

Day 10 Home

Return home • Your tour director assists with the transfer to the airport, where you will check in for your return flight home.
